TWO THOUSAND MEXICANS STORM NATIONAL PALACE

told of the killing of John B. McManus in Mexico City, said: "I believe John B. McManus never lived in Chicago. His brother, Thomas McManus, is a prominent lawyer, and I believe they were associated in Mexico City. I knew little about them."

Robert C. McManus is not related to the McManus family of Mexico City.

John B. McManus was one of the best known, most respected and most responsible members of the American colony in Mexico City, according to a prominent Chicagoan who has large interests there.

He was financial agent for Bryan, McManus and company, a big firm which manages a large group of mines in the Guaymas district. He had been in business in Mexico City for about 15 years and was a leader in the affairs of the American colony.

Minister Receives Instructions.
The demand of the United States government was transmitted in a telegram sent by Secretary Bryan to the Brazilian minister in Mexico City. The state department approved the informal action of the Brazilian minister in asking for the punishment of the troops and instructed him to insist that it be carried into effect. High officials did not expect the affair would develop further complications of an international character. They were inclined to view the killing of one American, in what might have been a personal controversy in which motives of revenge were involved, did not necessarily mean that all Americans or other foreigners would be generally endangered.

General Villa's post nearest Mexico City when the Zapata troops entered yesterday, according to state department advices, was Tula, about fifty miles north, one day's march. It is believed here, although no advices have been received to that effect, that Villa forces are today arriving in the capital.

Zapata Troops Enter in Order.
The last dispatch from the Brazilian minister under date of 4 p. m. yesterday said the Zapata troops entered in a body in perfect order and were received with enthusiasm by the population of all classes.

Immediately General Salazar, the post commander, expressed his appreciation to the diplomatic corps for their efforts to save the city from famine and promised, not only protection to the lives and property of foreigners, but to provide transportation facilities to bring food into the city.

To Solve Food Problem.
The international relief committee to which General Obregon refused transportation facilities to obtain supplies, then reassembled and General Salazar arranged to have one of his representatives co-operate with them. That, it was believed, will solve the food problem.

The Brazilian minister telegraphed that at the time of the filing of his dispatch the city was quiet and good order was being maintained. Only three cases of looting had been reported to him, that of a British, a French and a German subject. Details of which were given to him by the German and French ministers and the British charge d'affaires.

Killing of McManus.
Comparison of the time of entry of the Zapata troops as given in the Brazilian minister's latest dispatch and the time had been shot before the main body of Zapata troops entered. It was supposed that the Zapata troops, who attacked McManus' house, were an advance party and probably detached from their commander. The Brazilian minister reported that General Obregon, the retiring Carranza commander, evidently impressed with the tenor of the American note, made arrangements for preservation of order when he withdrew.

MAY ASK PEOPLE TO VOTE $200,000

Directors Glen, Lovedahl and Williams, Superintendent J. M. Mills and Architect Leslie M. Hodgson of the city board of education made an inspection of the city schools yesterday with a view to making an estimate of the improvements that are needed in the buildings and their probable cost. After the inspection was completed, in the opinion of the committee, it was considered that the cost of the improvements would be approximately $200,000 and this amount may be asked for by the board when the proposed bond election is called. The matter, however, will be thoroughly discussed at the regular board meeting tonight.

Among the chief improvements proposed is the building of a two-story addition to the Ogdan high school, the lower floor to be used as a manual training workshop and the upper floor as a gymnasium. The establishment of a gymnasium in such a building would do away with the necessity of holding athletic events in the main auditorium of the present building and its attendant inconveniences and the damage caused by moving the seats in and out of the hall.

It is also proposed to entirely remodel the Madison school, to build a new school at West Ogden, to materially improve the Dee and Five Points schools and also to make some improvements on the other schools.

EVIDENCE IN THE CASE AGAINST DART AND HALE

The preliminary hearing of Fred Dart, charged with the theft of $700 worth of beeswax from the Superior Honey company, was concluded yesterday afternoon in the municipal court and taken under advisement by Judge W. H. Reader, Jr. The preliminary hearing of J. T. Hale, charged with complicity in the same crime, was to be taken up late this afternoon.

According to the evidence given yesterday by J. A. Watson, Carl Redfield, Alfred C. Johnson, Benjamin Hughes, Joseph Bagley and J. L. Hobson, for the prosecution, the inference was that Dart and Hale secured a team and wagon at Heber City, on April 11, 1914, came to Ogden and removed nearly a ton of beeswax from the warehouse of the Superior Honey company. On July 17 relatives of Hale saw him and Dart removing a large quantity of something from the Hale barn to a wagon. The next day Dart sold 1300 pounds of beeswax in Salt Lake City. This was purchased from the Salt Lake buyer by Mr. Redfield and after he had identified it as the stolen property, a search for evidence against Dart was taken up and in the search evidence against Hale was also alleged to have been found. The only positive testimony given was in the identification of the wax by Redfield.

The testimony introduced by the defense tended to prove an alibi for the defendant. The witnesses were Albert G. Engberg, Eph Rowe, Paul Dart, Thomas Hallam, Charles Davenport, John W. Bell and the defendant. In effect, their testimony was that Dart was at his home on April 11 and had gone fishing on April 12. The marshal of Spanish Fork, where Dart lives, introduced a record book proving that Dart was in that town on April 12. He had been keeping close watch of the defendant, he said, for three months, having him under surveillance as a bootlegger and he made an entry in the book on April 12 when he found that Dart had gone fishing.

THEATERS

AT THE ORPHEUM.
The members of three large audiences who witnessed the opening of the week's "Empress" vaudeville program at the Orpheum theatre yesterday were held in a tight grip of interest by J. K. Emmett & Co. with the playlet "The Strongest Tie." The company consists of Mary E. Ryan, Elizabeth Conrad and Miss Lillian Fuhrer and its support of Mr. Emmett was of a high order.

The other acts measure up to the headliner in wholly satisfying manner, combining music, comedy and feats of strength and skill. A plane of high art is reached by the Ogdan quartette, composed of Jennie Ogden, soprano, Irene Blanchard, contralto; Manuel Huerta, tenor, and Nathan Fruchs, baritone-basso, and the Three Donals, premier athletes. The singers are of the grand opera type, with voices of adequate power and range for many big roles. Miss Ogden's numbers were received with enthusiastic applause, as were those of the quartette as a whole. Mr. Huerta, who was court singer to the Sultan of Turkey for twenty years, also pleased. His tenor voice is one of seemingly unlimited range, but he has developed a tremolo that takes away the perfect enjoyment his work would otherwise give.

The Three Donals give a posing and athletic act that is thoroughly enjoyed. Their posing is virtually perfect and their feats of strength remarkable.

Another act much above the ordinary is that of Eddie Clark, a diminutive star, who counts among his talents, that of author, actor, producer and entertainer. He is ably assisted by Clarissa Rose, pianist and cellist, and presents a number of character impersonations that won several encores at each performance.

Phil Roy and Arthur Ray in the sketch, "Fun in a Dining Car," give a demonstration of juggling and slapstick comedy that "gets under the skin" from the start and stays there until the "last plate is broken." Lon Smith and Constance Farmer have a stock act without scenery, that makes a similar impression. Smith is just naturally funny and his vis-a-vis has a good singing voice in addition to other charms.

WORLD'S MARKETS

New York, March 12.—Automobile shares were again conspicuous at the outset of today's trading, with further material gains, while speculative favorites were relatively neglected. The advance in the motor issues and affiliated stocks ranged from 1 1/2 to 4 1/2 points and was due in large part to professional manipulation, outside of the market being trifling. Among the leaders United States Steel and Amalgamated Copper gained half a point each, with strength in Lehigh Valley and Soo. CHICAGO GRAIN
Chicago, March 12.—Rapidly diminishing supplies in mills and elevators had a bullish effect today on the price of wheat. There was lively buying as a result of the government report showing the total stock to be about 20,000,000 bushels less than at the corresponding time a year ago. Additional strength was derived from an advance in quotations at Liverpool, where demand was said to be on the increase. After opening 5 3/4 to 1 1/2c higher, the market here made a decided further upturn before beginning to react.

Free purchasing by commission houses lifted corn. Rural offerings were light. The opening which varied from the same as last night to 1 1/2c day. On Monday night he will give a sacred concert in the Salvation Army hall on Twenty-fifth street.

Continued export call gave strength to oats. Estimates of the Argentine surplus were said to have been greatly reduced.

Provisions rose with hogs. Stock yard interests, however, seemed willing to unload on the bulge.

Urgent demand for both cash and May by export houses tended to rally the market on every downturn. The close was strong at 1 1/8 to 2 3/4c above last night.

Owing to wheat strength, speculators were chary of pressing the bear side of the corn market. The close was firm at 5 3/4@3 1/4 to 3 1/4@7 1/2c net advance.

on March 20, to vote on the proposed issuance of $70,000 bonds for the purpose of rebuilding the high school building, which was destroyed by fire before Christmas. The school board, of which Dr. Oscar B. Steel is chairman, has made it clear to the electors that parts of the walls still standing can be utilized in the construction of the plant. It will be necessary for the bonds to be voted at an early date if the building is to be ready for occupancy at the beginning of the fall term of school. The three under classes are now using the third floor of the Idaho Technical college and others are being accommodated in the Methodist church and a few in one restored wing of the old building.
